

The Dallas-Fort Worth Region

The Dallas Regional Chamber welcomes you and your company to the Dallas-Fort Worth region. DFW is an innovation hub with a wealth of resources that make it an ideal business location. DFW's attractive quality of life, strong regional and state economy, low cost of living, skilled labor force, pro-business mindset, and lack of corporate and personal income taxes contribute to a thriving location.

Forward-looking company leaders seeking a friendly and profitable place to do business have discovered the attributes they are seeking in the region.

Due to its central location and world-class transportation infrastructure, Dallas-Fort Worth is a major international gateway. DFW excels in passenger air travel and air cargo operations. The region is home to:

- Dallas Fort Worth International Airport, the nation's fourth-busiest airport, and home base for American Airlines;
- Dallas Love Field Airport, home to Southwest Airlines, the largest domestic airline in the country; and
- Fort Worth Alliance Airport, the world's first major industrial airport, and home to an Amazon Air hub.

Additionally, DFW's roads and rail lines are remarkable for the volume and delivery speed they provide for transporting freight products across the country.

Equally important is the regionally supported agreement to prove up tomorrow's transit disruptors.

Our region ranks among the top three U.S. metropolitan areas for business expansions, relocations, and employment growth. The 4-million-person workforce is being bolstered by an influx of young, credentialed and talented professionals, providing companies with an abundance of options in skill level they need to make their businesses a success.

Texas' business climate, combined with the attributes and functionality that Dallas-Fort Worth currently holds as a major corporate headquarters destination, sends a simple, yet compelling, message: There is no better region from which to operate a national or global firm today, next year, or even decades into the future.

We know you will find yourself right at home in the DFW region. We look forward to supporting your business expansion projects.
