

Schools - Private Education

Parents send their children to private schools for a variety of reasons. Some select private schools for religious or philosophical reasons. Others value smaller class sizes and individualized attention for their children. Then there are parents who are focused on the highest possible learning standards, advanced placement courses, and rigorous college preparation that leads to enhanced academic opportunities.

Researching Schools

The Dallas-Fort Worth region offers a wide range of private school options. Some of the terms you will encounter as you look at private school options include:

- Learning differences schools – These schools provide for students with learning differences across the spectrum and can range from pre-K through 12th grade.
- Boarding schools – Several of the single-gender private schools offer full-time boarding as well as day student options.
- Language/culture specific – Some schools offer immersion in specific languages, like French, Chinese and Japanese. Many of these schools offer Saturday and summer options for families who want students to attend a traditional school and supplement with cultural and language immersion.
- Montessori method – This is a child-centered educational approach based on scientific observations of children from birth to adulthood. Schools incorporating this self-direction and discovery method are located across the region, but they generally do not extend beyond elementary. A number of public districts also have a Montessori choice option within the district.
- Classical – These schools are usually characterized by small class sizes and a classics-based education, normally with fewer team athletic options.
- College preparatory – Prep schools focus on academic rigor in preparation for demanding collegiate programs.
- Religious/parochial – Some schools are associated with specific religious denominations or churches and incorporate religious teaching as part of the curriculum.
